

Guinea

Women, Business and the Law 2021 presents an index covering 190 economies and structured around the life cycle of a working woman. In total, 35 questions are scored across the eight indicators. Overall scores are then calculated by taking the average of each indicator, with 100 representing the highest possible score. Data refer to the laws and regulations that are applicable to the main business city (Conakry). Different rules may apply in other jurisdictions so local legislation should be reviewed. Based on this approach, Guinea scores 76.3 out of 100. The overall score for Guinea is higher than the regional average observed across Sub-Saharan Africa (71). Within the Sub-Saharan Africa region, the maximum score observed is 91.9 (Mauritius).

Guinea - Scores for Women, Business and the Law 2021

Relative Strengths

When it comes to constraints on freedom of movement, laws affecting women's decisions to work, constraints on women's starting and running a business, and laws affecting the size of a woman's pension, Guinea gets a perfect score.

Areas for Improvement

However, when it comes to laws affecting women's pay, constraints related to marriage, laws affecting women's work after having children, and gender differences in property and inheritance, Guinea could consider reforms to improve legal equality for women.

For example, one of the lowest scores for Guinea is on the indicator related to laws affecting women's work after having children (the WBL2021 Parenthood Indicator). To improve on the Parenthood Indicator, Guinea may wish to consider making the government administer 100% of maternity leave benefits, making paid leave available to fathers, and making paid parental leave available.

Recent Reforms

No reforms were observed during the past year.
