Women, Business and the Law 2022 (WBL2022) presents an index covering 190 economies and structured around the life cycle of a working woman. In total, 35 questions are scored across eight indicators. Overall scores are then calculated by taking the average of each indicator, with 100 representing the highest possible score. Data refer to the laws and regulations that are applicable to the main business city (Caracas). Different rules may apply in other jurisdictions so local legislation should be reviewed. Based on this approach, The Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela scores 85 out of 100. The overall score for The Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela is higher than the regional average observed across Latin America and the Caribbean (80.4). Within the Latin America and the Caribbean region, the maximum score observed is 95 (Peru).

Relative Strengths

When it comes to constraints on freedom of movement, laws affecting women's decisions to work, constraints related to marriage, and gender differences in property and inheritance, The Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela gets a perfect score.

Areas for Improvement

However, when it comes to laws affecting women's pay, laws affecting women's work after having children, constraints on women starting and running a business, and laws affecting the size of a woman's pension, The Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela could consider reforms to improve legal equality for women.

For example, one of the lowest scores for The Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela is on the indicator measuring laws affecting the size of a woman's pension (the WBL2022 Pension indicator). To improve on the Pension indicator, The Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela may wish to consider equalizing the ages at which men and women can retire with full pension benefits, and accounting for periods of absence from work due to childcare in pension benefits.
