

Tanzania

Women, Business and the Law 2024 (WBL2024) presents an index covering 190 economies and structured around the life cycle of a working woman. In total, 35 questions are scored across eight indicators. Overall scores are then calculated by taking the average of each indicator, with 100 representing the highest possible score. Data refer to the laws and regulations that are applicable to the main business city (Dar es Salaam). Different rules may apply in other jurisdictions so local legislation should be reviewed. Based on this approach, Tanzania scores 81.3 out of 100.0. The overall score for Tanzania is higher than the regional average observed across Sub-Saharan Africa (74.0). Within the Sub-Saharan Africa region, the maximum score observed is 97.5 (Togo).

Tanzania - Scores for Women, Business and the Law 2024

Relative Strengths

When it comes to constraints on freedom of movement, laws affecting women's decisions to work, and laws affecting women's pay, Tanzania gets a perfect score.

Areas for Improvement

When it comes to constraints related to marriage, laws affecting women's work after having children, constraints on women starting and running a business, gender differences in property and inheritance, and laws affecting the size of a woman's pension, Tanzania could consider reforms to improve legal equality for women.

For example, one of the lowest scores for Tanzania is on the indicator measuring laws affecting women's work after having children (the WBL2024 Parenthood indicator). To improve on the Parenthood indicator, Tanzania may wish to consider making paid leave of at least 14 weeks available to mothers, and making paid parental leave available.

Recent Reforms

No reforms were observed during the past year (October 2nd, 2022 – October 1st, 2023).
